

National Indigenous Business Summer School WA

Katitjiny Boya Birrit

Pathway to Understanding Business
20-24 January 2020

Katitjiny Boya Birrit
The Pathway to Understanding Business

What is it?

The National Indigenous Business Summer School WA is a joint initiative of Curtin University, Edith Cowan University, Murdoch University and The University of Western Australia. The WA program Katitjiny Boya Birrit/Pathway to Understanding Business aims to inspire and support Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander high school students in year 11 and 12 in 2020, who are interested in pursuing a career in business.

Activities

During the summer school, students will experience:

- Living on campus at The University of Western Australia
- Stories, advice and mentoring from Elders, cultural leaders, current and past university students.
- Presentations by (and opportunity to meet) inspiring Indigenous business leaders
- Cultural and social activities
- speeches from industry and community leaders
- Careers and course advice
- Case competition - taking part in a business boot camp where students will be given an opportunity to use what they learn during the week to test business case-solving skills, receive mentoring from Indigenous business owners and entrepreneurs, and get hands-on experience as a business professional

Applications

Apply online.
abdc.edu.au/projects/nibss-wa-2019/

Applications close at 5pm on Friday 1 November 2019. Places are limited and based on student applications, school report and interest in studying business or commerce.

All costs including travel, meals and accommodation are sponsored.

For further information on the program contact:

For further information please contact:
Phoebe Phillips NIBSS (WA) Project Officer.
T (08) 6488 5624 E NIBSSWA-SBUS@uwa.edu.au